Prince George, B.C. - The Steelworkers Union will be heading back to the bargaining table Monday with Conifer.

Talks broke off August 19th, when Conifer walked away from the negotiations saying the negotiations weren't "moving forward". The union says Conifer had strayed from the bargaining plan.

Representing more than 9 thousand forestry workers throughout B.C., the package being developed with Conifer is to be the pattern for other companies to follow.

The last contract expired June 30th.
